INSPIRATION

Basket was born from the French designers' wish to create a de-structured sofa, a metal nest that contains soft pillows in polyurethane foam and acrylic fiber.

Basket was the "progenitor" of a special typology of sofas that widely inspired in the following years various similar products as well as the designers themselves for the creation of furniture for several companies.

Basket represents a comfortable alcove in which one can sit, work or rest.

Born mainly for domestic use, the sofa has been receiving a growing success in lounge areas.

PLUS

Basket is realized with a containment structure in metal, painted in different colors.

The suspension of the base is obtained with elastic bands directly fixed to the structure.

The pillows are realized in multi-density polyurethane foam and wadding characterized by a particular softness that makes the seat very comfortable.

Basket is a sofa with a strong personality, easily adaptable to different kind of locations.

Basket / Ronan and Erwan Bouroullec / 2005

Born in France in the '70s, brothers Ronan and Erwan Bouroullec first sparked an interest in design through their relationship with Issey Miyake in 2000. In just a few short years the brothers have been published twice, first in the "Catalogue de Raison" and then in the 2003 Phaidon issue. Both publications showcase images of their projects. Ronan and Erwan are seen among the rising stars of the design world; bold and reflective while simultaneously poetic and passionate, their creations are considered "micro-architectures" with different functional applications and the ability to characterize and distinctly define the places in which they are put.
